Add strength to your workforce with a police vehicle conversion designed to withstand the toughest conditions.

Our extensive range of custom-built police vehicle conversions cover all areas of policing including: response, public order, neighbourhood policing, covert operations, armed response, support units, road policing, and command and control.

We put operational functionality at the forefront of every vehicle we design to ensure it is fit-for-purpose before it enters service. These robust vehicles are made to withstand tough conditions so you can always rely on them to support your workforce when they need it the most.

Our dedicated team for policing and security will work with you to design a vehicle conversion to meet your needs. Drawing on years of experience in the blue light industry we will ensure that your conversion is leading the way in police vehicle design and meets high safety standards. With our end-to-end service you will be looked after by an account manager who will follow the progress of your vehicle and continue to support you after delivery.
